

Know Who You're Hiring with VerifyID

With thousands of data breaches happening every year, companies need more assurance than ever that their candidates are who they say they are. At the same time, companies are hiring more remote and gig workers, making in-person identity verification more difficult.

With Sterling Identity's new VerifyID, candidates can verify their identity at the start of the screening process. Using their phone, candidates snap photos of identity documents and themselves. Our state-of-the-art technologies then authenticate the documents and compare photos using both AI and human expertise. Results are usually returned within seconds.

82+

THOUSAND

identity-related employment or tax fraud cases were reported in 2017, according to an Experian report.

Identity is the foundation of background screening.

Your Process. Our Expertise

Using our APIs, you can integrate identity authentication and validation into your existing systems and processes. When AI can't authenticate documents automatically, human experts review them in a matter of minutes. You can customize the candidate experience, too, so you capture exactly what you need - no more, no less. It's simple, easy, and effective - brought to you by Sterling.

Key Benefits

- Faster onboarding
- Reduced fraud and impersonation
- Simple, guided mobile candidate experience
- Near-instant results that integrate seamlessly into your current hiring process
- Improved Know Your Customer (KYC) compliance
- Convenient 24/7 availability